M-O FFA Jr. Livestock Judging Team Grabs Top Spot at Northwest District Contest

By: Paige Day, M-O FFA Reporter

ORLANDO, Okla—Living in a small town can create challenges for small FFA chapters. However, in the Mulhall-Orlando FFA Chapter, the community rallies around the students to help however possible. One example of this is seen in the livestock judging workouts. The M-O FFA students are fortunate to be able to work out on some of the best livestock in the country when they visit Pfeiffer Farms, J&J Cattle, Oldenburg Farms, and Pfeiffer Angus Farms. These members of the community have hosted several workouts and provided invaluable experience for the students. All of the practice in the community has been very beneficial to the FFA Jr. Livestock Judging Team.

The Jr. Team members are Callen Oldenburg, Charley Johnson, KayLea Taylor and Baylee Brown. This team has participated in several livestock judging contests throughout the school year. It started with a 5th place finish at the NJSA Regional contest in Woodward. The team's success continued with 3rd place finishes at both the Oklahoma State Fair and the Tulsa State Fair. More recently, the team competed at the Northwest District Competition in Enid and took home the honor of high team for the second consecutive year, as well as 2nd and 3rd High Individuals. Congratulations to the team members, as well as Advisor Jerry Brooks on their hard work and achievements.
